Japs-Olson Company Receives ISO 9001:2015 Certification

Minneapolis – Japs-Olson Company, a print and direct mail production provider for over 110 years, has received the ISO 9001:2015 certification. ISO 9001:2015 certification provides organizations with useful, internationally recognized models for operating a quality management system. The company was assessed and approved by National Quality Assurance, USA. Japs-Olson Company has been ISO 9001 certified since 2009.

What is ISO 9001?

ISO 9001:2015 is based on a number of quality management principles including a strong customer focus, the motivation and implication of top management, the process approach and continual improvement. Using ISO 9001:2015 helps ensure that customers get consistent, good quality products and services, which in turn brings many business benefits.

“An ISO 9001:2015 certification is unusual for commercial printers and rather unique for those in the direct mail industry because the standards for a quality management system are very rigorous,” said Japs-Olson CEO Mike Beddor. “Our company has always had a commitment to provide customers with excellent service and products. The ISO 9001:2015 certification is a natural extension of our Lean Manufacturing Continuous Improvement program that we instituted four years ago. Customers recognize that an ISO 9001:2015 certification means that Japs-Olson has documented and verifiable standards in place through our service, procurement and production systems. ISO 9001:2015 also validates the training and corrective action programs we have in place which are proactive rather than reactive.”

History of ISO 9001

ISO (International Standards Organization) first published its ISO 9001 standard in 1987 and later published an updated version in 1994. In an effort to address the changing needs of its users, ISO again updated its standard in 2000 and 2008 and again in 2015. The newest version is known as ISO 9001 2015.
